G 16a

My Comic Book Character

If you were told to pick one character in a book or movie who would be? Tough choice isn't, but I think that my character would have to be Superman. I like Superman because, he's strong, he can fly, and last but not least he goes all over the world fighting crime! how cool is that.

I find Superman to be totally cool because, he has Super Strength! How awesome would it be to lift a 2 ton car over your head. Another part about having Super Strength you get to hit things like a big meter out of the sky, or even get a cat out of a tree.

I also find Superman to be cool because he can fly! I love to be up in the sky either in a plane, hot-air balloon, helicopter or any thing that can fly. Another way that you can use flying powers for is when ever someone that you don't like comes up and tries to talk to you, you can just fly away knowing that they can't come get you.

Finally, I enjoy reading about Superman because he goes all over the world helping people. If he hears a cry of help, or a tear in the Justice System you will always know that Super Man will be there no matter what kind of problem lies ahead you can always count on him.

G 16b

Superman will always be in my heart because, He has Super-strength, he can fly, and he uses his super abilities to save the world from danger. So remember no matter what there will always be a character out there trying to earn a special place in your heart.

Score Point: 4

This response reflects competent proficiency in expository writing skills. Superman is chosen as a favorite character, and reasons are given for this choice (he's strong; he can fly; he goes all over the world fighting crime). The writer introduces the response with a rhetorical question and proceeds to adequately organize and develop the key ideas. Although the response displays strong sentence structure, fewer errors in writing conventions and further development would be required for a higher score.
